EXTRA. 2 O'CLOCK. BUT ONE TUNNEL BILL NOW.

Assemblyman Byrne Accepts the Sulzer Bill Provisions.

Chauncey Dewey a Witness Before the Grand Jury To-Day.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. ALBANY, March 30.—The bill to make safe the Fourth Avenue Tunnel will come up again before the Legislature this evening, when it will go to the Railroad Committee.

I am convinced that it is the desire of the people of New York that the Fourth Avenue tunnel be made safe, and am willing to make any concessions through which such a result may be brought about.

The fact that the Grand Jury, which has been investigating the Fourth Avenue tunnel disaster of Feb. 29, in which six people lost their lives, was about to complete its labors, through a large crowd of people this morning to the corridors of the brown-stone courthouse in City Hall Park where the Grand Jury holds its sessions.

Assistant District Attorney Lynn said to an EVENING WORLD reporter that he was almost certain that the tunnel investigation would be completed and the result more known to-day.

Chauncey M. Dewey arrived before the Grand Jury this morning at 11 o'clock, and as his official career must end to-morrow, it will do with dispatch what remains to be done.

The last work of to-day's session is expected to be the affixing of the signatures to the documents that will charge the directors of the New Haven road with misdemeanor.

MUST PAY FOR THE TROUSERS.

A Glen Cove Tailor Adopts a Novel Method to Collect a Bill.

GLEN COVE, March 29.—There is a tailor here named Ramussen who has adopted a novel method for forcing his patrons to settle up.

Two years ago a man employed in a responsible position in the city works sent two pairs of trousers around to the tailor to be repaired. The bill amounted to $5.25.

Since the announcement that high-toned tailors in New York City proposed to advertise bills for sale, Ramussen has been pondering how to collect the amount due from this particular customer.

MILLER FULL OF FIGHT.

The Bloomfield Malevolent Threatens to Meet the Crusaders.

TRENTON, O., March 29.—William Miller, the Bloomfield saloon-keeper whose premises and stock were destroyed by crusaders on Thursday, as related in THE WORLD, organized up with a new stock in another location yesterday.

POINTERS ON THE RACES.

Tipsters' Opinions on the Various Winners To-Day.

Programme of the Several Events to Be Decided.

The programme at Guttenberg for to-day's races is fully up to the average and the mild weather will probably draw a large crowd to the track.

The first race is at three furlongs. The two-year-olds entered seem an exceptionally good lot, and with the exception of one or two all will perform in public.

The third race is a five-furlong dash. Endeavoring to do it is hard to see how he can be beaten, and he should win easily to-day. Grace M. may be second and Diat should beat the others.

The sixth race, at seven furlongs, may go to Oberman. His race at seven furlongs in 1:20, with a very good start, was a first-class performance, and with nine pounds to-day he should win rather handsly.

Referee in the Sporting World makes these selections: First Race—Wynham, Grapeholt, Second Race—Trotting, Little Sandy, Third Race—Endure, Dixie, Fourth Race—Vengur, Harry Ireland, Fifth Race—Vengur, Harry Ireland, Sixth Race—Count Lutz, Bohemian.

CUTTENBURG ENTRIES.

THE RED FLAG IN BOSTON.

Anarchists Celebrate the Anniversary of the Paris Commune.

BOSTON, March 29.—The red flag of anarchy waved over the streets at Dame Hall to-day. The occasion was the anniversary of the Paris Commune and about five hundred members of the International Workingmen's Alliance, Boston group, were present.

John Most spoke in German and among other things said: "We pay our tribute to the unknown heroes of the Paris Commune. The cry of 'Vive la Commune' did not die away with the fall of the Commune."

WASH. QUINLAN'S SAD FATE.

The Once Wealthy Broker Will Be Buried To-Morrow.

His Broken-Spirited Wanderings Evident by an Overdose of Morphine.

The body of Washington Quinlan was sent to the home of his brother, W. J. Quinlan, Jr., at 100 South Oxford street, Brooklyn, to-day, from Albany, where the once wealthy and now penniless broker died from an overdose of morphine.

Never stoop his disastrous failure on the floor of the Stock Exchange last May, Washington Quinlan has not been himself. He never attempted to re-establish himself in business, but spent his time drifting from place to place, and he had traveled all over this country.

He identified the dead man as his brother. Investigation showed that Washington Quinlan had registered at the Globe Hotel only a few hours before he was killed in San Francisco, and the key to his Globe Hotel room was found in his pocket.

His clothing was carefully arranged on a bed in the room. The overcoat was thrown over the bed, and the trousers were thrown over the chair. The shoes were thrown over the bed.

Washington Quinlan began life under the most favorable auspices. He was one of three sons of John W. Quinlan, a general manager of the Chemical Bank. Washington began his business career as a clerk in the Chemical Bank, and in 1866 he left his job and spent the following six years in the Stock Exchange.

LA GRIPPE MAKES RAVAGES.

Nearly Every Branch of Business in the City Affected By It.

One hundred and ninety policemen were reported on the grip last morning. It does not appear that there is any decrease in the number of cases throughout the city, although there is in the mortality list.

The grip is a disease of the lungs, and its attack is usually sudden. It is characterized by a high fever, aching limbs, and a general prostration. It is most prevalent in the winter months.

ATHLETIC FIELD FOR AMHERST.

A Timely Gift from F. B. Pratt of the Class of '87.

BOSTON, March 29.—The facilities for athletic training at Amherst will be considerably increased by the gift of a large tract of land, which is laid out in the form of an oval. Eventually Pratt field will contain several tennis courts. The grand stand has a seating capacity of about 400 and stands on a hill about half a mile long.

CHARGES AGAINST OVERTON.

They're Crowding Out Brooklyn's Only Colored Policeman.

To Evade His Comrades' Boycott He Is Put on Special Duty.

Officer Wiley G. Overton, Brooklyn's only colored policeman, is in further trouble. In addition to the unpleasantness that has existed during the last few days between himself and his white comrades, the new officer will now have to face charges of neglect of duty.

Overton denied children's clothes and started out to fill his mission. While passing through Whitehall street he was met by a fellow-member of the Bridge Street African Methodist Church, who told him that a crowd of men were in a saloon on the corner of Prince and Whitehall streets, and that the man was running in the hall.

Overton turned on his heel and left the saloon, and resumed his search for the murderer. Meanwhile, the news of the affair reached the Adams street station house, and when Overton returned he was questioned about the matter.

PROVING WRIGHT'S IDENTITY.

His Razor and the "Fred Evans" Astor House Signature Taken.

The New York attorneys of the Wright-Battage families—Seward, Gutrie & Morawitz—contained their systematic investigation of the mysterious Tottenham-Astor House double tragedy to-day.

There is only one course for me to pursue in the matter and overton, to prefer charges against Overton and Manuil. It will not do for Overton to plead that he had no warrant to make the arrest. A warrant is necessary six days in the week, but on Sunday none is necessary. I will make charges against the man who is on both sides with blood.

ATLANTA, N. Y., March 29.—Assemblyman Brandegee, who represented the First District, died this afternoon in this city. The deceased was taken ill a few weeks ago with typhoid fever and pneumonia. He was a Republican.

SUFFOCATED AND ROASTED.

John Mullen's Horrible Death in Brooklyn This Morning.

Caught Sleeping by a Blaze From an Overheated Stove.

Another fire, attended with fatal results, occurred in Brooklyn at an early hour this morning. The victim was John Mullen, thirty-five years old, who was suffocated and roasted by the flames of a gas stove.

The fire occurred in a low, one-story frame building at 1088 Broadway, occupied by Uriah Ellis as a saloon and pool-room, known as "The Old Homestead."

During the early forenoon there were very few callers at the house, and the stove was left unattended. The fire started in the kitchen, and spread rapidly to the living room.
